

Cheap essay

cheapest essay writing services

Today, many are interested in how to learn English quickly and efficiently. In this article, Linguatrip.com Cofuner Marina Mogilko tells how she taught English from scratch.

English - where to start

I started learning English when I was four years old. Parents gave me to the preparatory class, where we were taught by the basic vocabulary: a Dog (dog), a pen (handle), a door (door), etc. When I came to the first class, it seemed to me that I knew perfectly in English. At the first lesson, the teacher asked: "How much do you know words in English? ten? twenty?" I replied: "I know everything." Of course, it was not true.

In school, I had English classes five times a week. I studied on one fives and to the 9th grade I thought that I already know a language quite well and I could talk without any problems on it. Parents supported my passion for English and sent me to England for the exchange for two weeks. Then I realized that training abroad opens up great opportunities, and wanted to learn English in perfection. First Language Trip to England

Upon arrival in England, I realized that I did not understand anything. What I taught at school was the Russian version of the English language, which did not have anything in common with real life. I did not understand people, they did not understand me. I could only talk yes (yes) and nod, but often it was not to the place. To understand only a mother in the host family, which somehow explained that we had for dinner.

By the end of the first week of English courses, I began to understand the girl who lived in the family, and was finally able to communicate with her. And by the end of the second week I began to communicate in English without fear. It was a real breakthrough. My first trip to England changed my whole life.

When I returned to Russia, I realized that I knew badly, and eventually began to teach him myself. I started to invent my methods to study English. To begin with, we understand how to purchase basic knowledge: how I advise you to learn English remember Main times

Do not be afraid that in English many times. In conversational speech, only four are used:

Present Simple - what happens in general in your life;

Present Continuous - What you do at the moment (I am Writing This Tutorial);

Future Simple - What will you do in the future (I Will Go To the United States);

Past Simple - what you did in the past (I Lived in Russia);

If you figure it out with these four times, this is enough for you. The rest of the forces, throw on the study of new words. You study English not in order to solve grammatical tests? Your goal is to learn the language to understand people and convey to them their thoughts. Use mobile applications

I love applications for memorizing new English words, because the phone is always with me. In a traffic jam or in the subway, I can get a smartphone and take myself with a helpful thing.

Easy Ten.

Here you can learn on the day of 10 words. In the application, bright examples of using words.

Lingualeo.

In Lingualeo, the diversified language is suitable for learning a language - you understand in grammar, learn how to propose, words and so on.

Duolingo.

Another application for studying words and grammar, exercises in the form of the game, there are different levels.

Download these applications right now, to the next time you become bored or you will have a break at work, you will already teach English.

Transfer the phone into English

Install the English language in the language settings. Let you remember elementary words, and it will seem to you that it is useless, this vocabulary is postponed in your head and will pop up at the right moment.

Put yourself a goal

If you go to courses in your city, I recommend putting a concrete foreseeable goal in learning a language. Often courses can stretch for several years, and your progress will be weak. And you need to take a maximum of these classes. Sometimes it is not even worth going to courses if you feel that you can do more. The time you spend on the road to the language school, you can save and do on your own. Maybe it is better to spend these two hours with benefit, and an hour to work out English more intensively at home.

Now I am learning Italian, and I bought myself a ticket to Italy. I have three months on learning the language, then I will come to the country and check my progress in the case.

How to effectively master the tongue

When I began to engage English independently, quickly pulled my level and won the city competition in English in the 10th grade. I went to prepare for the All-Russian Olympics, it was useful. In addition, the winners of the All-Russian Olympiad can enter any university without passing exams. Unfortunately, for the first time I did not pass this preparation, my level of English was not high enough, and I began to do next.

What I did: refused to read books and watching movies in Russian. For me it was taboo. I watched all the movies in English. Beginning with "Simpsons" because it is a simple cartoon, much is understandable from the picture. When I have reached a higher level, I watched the series "Sex in the Big City". I listened to the voice of actors in reality, real language. Then he was surprised that when the translation was shown so much jokes. If you need subtitles to view the series, turn into English, but not Russian, it will not be any sense.

All books I also read only in the original - I bought a bunch of books in England. Started with children's. The main thing is not to climb every two minutes in the dictionary, it is important to understand the general meaning, context. You need to get used to speech, even if some individual words are incomprehensible. Often you will remember the words, because they will be repeated, and for the fifth time the word Endeavour will already be remembered.

I listened to lectures in English, went to museums, communicated with foreigners. I have included some beacon: "Along foreigners, I need to talk in English."

Later, I persuaded my parents again send me to the UK. Communication with the British every time he opened something new for me. For example, I was struck by the attitude towards animals of the British. Cat in the courtyard caught a bird. I asked the owners of the house to drive the cat into the courtyard, to which they misunderstood: "How is we we send it? We have no right, this is a family member." I was surprised to find that there are vegetarians, then I didn't even know about this. The world is huge, and when getting acquainted with different people, rethink and your life. How to learn English from scratch - Final advice go to the country in which they speak English

This incredibly inspires and motivates. In whatever level you are, go to the United Kingdom, USA, Australia, Canada, New Zealand or another English-speaking country. It is best to take a tour, but to go to language courses. Let it be just a week, the main thing to start. Choose intense lessons or ordinary, but then after classes do not go to Russian, but continue actively with everyone in English. I give you a task

Put in front of you the goal you have to achieve in two months. Write this goal in the comments to the article. Put yourself first a small goal, and then big.

I am now in America, I speak English every day, as I conduct business in this language. If I did not go to England to learn the language, I could never go to America in life and work here. With running language, you can easily establish contact with the right people and make useful dating.

If you liked this article, I advise you to read "how to quickly learn English: 36 working advice."